We simply inform strangers and others of facts which may interest them. It is an important part of business to let it be known where you are and what you are doing. HOW OLD ARE YOU?

For the sake of argument we will suppose that you are forty years of age. Note this splendid result. At this age a twenty-year policy for $10,000 will cost $618.50 per year, or $12,370 in twenty years. At the end of twenty years we will pay you in cash $19,780 for the surrender of the policy, or we will pay you $8,130 in cash and continue year policy ten years longer, paying you $618.50 per year, $6,185 in the ten years, and then pay you the face value of your policy—$10,000—making in all $24,315 for the $12,370 paid by you. Where else or in what else can you secure protection coupled with such an investment? Mind what we age going to say now. The average amount of insurance carried by the above policy is about $13,000, and it would cost you equally as much in any asby the above policy is about $13,000, and it would cost you equally as much in any assessment company, for which you get nothing unless you die, while in the Equitable you get £24.316 for $12.370, which is about 4½ per cent compounded. Besides you get it while you are alive and just when you are probably least able to earn it and more inclined to enjoy it. Is not the fallacy of assessment insurance plainly evident?

He looks exceedingly well, being somewhat stouter than he was while Secretary of War, and although the death of his son Abraham seems EDUCATIONAL Pages 2 and 8

FINANCIAL to have left certain strong marks of sadness about his face, he appears to be in the best of health. To a STAR reporter he said in a most positive manner: "The stories to the effect that I intend to re-FOR RENT (STORES).......Page 2 sign my post and that I shall remain henceforth in America are absolutely false. I am here on a leave of absence, and shall remain for about forty or fifty days, after which I shall go back to England and resume my work. The reports to the contrary are without the least foundation. He afterward visited the State Department and made a brief call on Secretary Blaine and Assistant Secretary Wharton. His visit to America is a most melancholy one, being for the purpose of superintending the interment of the remains of his son in the Lincoln crypt at Springfield, Ill. This was done Saturday evening in the presence of a number of the members of the Lincoln Monument Association.

THE REPUBLICAN MOSES. The Party Turning to Blaine to Lead

Them Out of the Wilderness. The republicans have got to pull themselves together and agree upon some policy for the next session. Before the session begins there will probably be a conference of the leaders to discuss the situation, the matter having already received some attention within the cabinet circle.

The party must have some one around whom to rally their shattered forces and this leader the man to whom they must turn in their hour of distress to lead them out of the wilderness. It is said that even Mr. Harrison feels now that he made a mistake in not allying himself more closely with Mr. Blaine, and particularly that he missed an opportunity when he failed to send his proposed reciprocity message to Con-gress. There is considerable talk, more or less idle, about the republicans turning around now and modifying or repealing the McKinley bill. Of course they will do no such thing. But what will be done, unless jealousies prevent it, will be to try to give some character to the reciprocity feature. The reciprocity amendment adopted by Congress was nothing like what Mr. Blaine wanted; but it is believed TUESDAY, November 4, 1890...... 31.786 THURSDAY, November 6, 1890...... 32,386 that a broad construction may be given to it, FRIDAY, November 7, 1890...... 31,139 and new legislation on the subject enacted if SATURDAY, November 8, 1890...... 35,530 necessary, and that something may be acconplished by vigorous and prompt action in the State Department in the matter of making treaties which will broaden our markets on the American continent and with Cuba. Many retheir defeat look to Mr. Blaine to do something in this direction to save them and are ready to turn the party command over to him. It is expected that the stroke attempted at this session will be to agitate the reciprocity question so as to distract attention from the McKinley law, and at the same time to steer as clear as possible of the radical course which was followed during the last session.

STOCKS TAKE A DROP.

A Semi-Panicky Feeling on the Opening of the Exchange This Morning.

As soon as the stop orders were out of the way the market rallied. Western Union recovered 324, per cent. C. C. and St. Louis recovered 324.

An apprehensive feeling was shown, however, by bids being made shove the market price on buyer three stock. Only at the opening was the excitement maniested, but, although the brokers continued apparently calm, there was a determination almost universal among them to close out everything but the strongest accounts. The sales were enormous in the first hour, but in that time everything pressing seemed to have been sold and the rest of the selling appeared to be only on small orders from commission houses. The traders made a rash effort to bid prices up and they rallied some stocks about 1 per cent. but when stocks began to come out they re-tired. The market at 11:45 was about 2 to 4 per cent below the opening. The sales in the first two hours amounted to over 215,000 shares.

A DARING ROBBER CAUGHT. With Others He Stopped a Norther

Pacific Train and Secured $45,000. CHICAGO, Nov. 10.-Tonight Post Office Inspector Watkins of Chicago will arrive here, having in custody William E. Newberry, who is said to be the leader of one of the most daring train robberies of recent years. June 6 a Northern Pacific train was stopped at New Saiem, N.D., by highwaymen. Two masked men climbed upon the engine and compelled the engineer and fireman to detach the engine from the train and then to pull out. Having taken the engine about twenty rods the engineer. the engineer was ordered to stop and the en-gineer and fireman were taken back to the train, where they were ordered to batter down the door of the express car. With the first at-carried with him their keys. Having entered the car the two robbers com-pelled the engineer, the fireman and the postal clerk to cut open the mail pouches and to carry the first-class registered mail matter to the robbers' horses. About 500 packages con-taining $45,000 in cash were thus secured. G. E. Bailey, one of the highwaymen, was subsequently captured and is now serving a term in the North Dakota penitentiary. The search for Newberry has been carried on by the postal authorities ever since, and he was arrested at Plains, Va., Saturday. Newberry comes of excellent Virginia family.

THOUGHT TO BE CHRIST. The Indians Believe That the White

Man's Messiah Has Returned. CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—Gen. Nelson A. Miles. commander of the department of the Missouri, has just returned from a trip through Dakota. Montana and Nebraska. When seen by areporter the general talked entertainingly as to the strange fanaticism especially among the Sioux and Cheyennes, both of whom he has recently seen. He says many of the Sioux and Cheyennes now assert that they have already seen the Messiah, among others "Old Por-cupine," a prominent Cheyenne chief, who last winter made a trip with a large party of braves to Wyoming and said he had been taken to the Messiah by some Bannock Indians who came over the mountains to act as guides. Old Porcupine reports that the Messiah is the white man's Christ, returned after eighteen hundred years to visit the red men. The Messiah is white and wears his head so muffled that his face cannot be seen. His hands, how-ever, still bear cruel scars from the wounds inflicted by the white man centuries ago. These scars serve to remind the Indian of his duty to the Messiah, who will bring all good things if he is only faithful to his old traditions and customs.

"There is nothing particularly new in the latest craze," said the general. The Indians are great dreamers. They seldom if ever work and consequently have plenty of time to sit around and pray and dance and fast. This is all they have been doing thus far, and I don't know that they have done any different for the last fifty years. I do not anticipate any necessity for my visiting the affected tribes again for the present at any rate.

UNITED IN DEATH. Murder and Suicide Make Corpses of

Two Lovers. a highly respected young lady, was shot and instantly killed yesterday by Bert Shurt, a jealous lover. She lived three miles north of Hanna, a small town on the Pennsylvania road west of here. She was returning home from Sunday school, in which she is a teacher. She and another young lady were in a buggy when they met Shurt, who was riding on horseback. He leaped from the horse and drawing a revolver fired, the shot piercing Miss Snyder's heart. Shurt then placed the revolver to his forehead and pulled the trigger, the ball entering the brain. Death resulted in an hour. Before dying he revived long enough to say that he did it because she would not marry him and he was determined she should marry no one else. He had been paying attentions to Miss Snyder for over a year and his love was apparently reciprocated, but it seems that she had tired of his attentions and told him on several occasions that she could never consent to their union.

THREE TIMES AND FAILED. A Nashville Character's Futile Attempts

NASHVILLE, TENN., Nov. 10 .- Jim Meadows. who lives on West Cedar street, this city, and who has made himself quite conspicuous lately by the futile attempts he had made to commit suicide, was again the object of much speculation on the part of his neighbors last night. Heretofore he has always done himself more harm than any one else, but about ten o'clock last night his neighbors were called from their Sunday night slumbers by cries of terror from the members of the Meadows family, whom he had pursued into the street with a pistol. His wife and children escaped to the protection of friends. Meadows made an meffectual attempt to set fire to his dwelling house and store.

The police were notified of the condition of affairs, but before they could arrive upon the scene the insane man had completely subsided and seemed to have no knowledge of what he had done. Meadows had just recovered from the effects of the passage of a pistol bullet through his left breast, fired by his own hand. This was the third time be has shot himself with suicidal intent, each time narrowly missing the accomplishment of his object. He will to day be tried and will probably be sent to the lunstic asylum. The Sequel of a Murder.
